humans are weird they can be emotional irrational and often unpredictable yet as their manager it is your job to get the best out of them in fact they are often the key to your success sadly humans do not come with an instruction manual which lists their technical specifications human nature by greg clydesdale is based on the premise that the key to good management is understanding human nature and interpersonal relations but what is human nature greg argues that even where human nature is addressed at a conceptual level the link between theory and what actually happens in the workplace is usually weak and often fails to recognize that social ability is probably the defining aspect it is his intense focus on human nature and the link between a theoretical understanding of it and what actually happens in the workplace that makes this book so valuable throughout the book you see how managers must constantly make balancing acts between conflicting forces that exist at any given time but the essential message is if you want to make the world a better place focus on being a better manager to your staff to help with this you will find an elaboration theory based approach in which a basic model is provided and then elaborated on with examples from the work place the model consists of twenty human characteristics placed in three categories emotion motivation and cognition these characteristics are then linked to what managers have to do in the workplace conservation collaborative networks and increased scholarly attention to the principles policies and practices of maintaining and restoring nature for the benefit of all peoples species and ecologies transformative politics of nature presents a vision of profound change in the way humans relate to each other and with the natural world the book defends that there is both teleological order design and chance in non living and in living systems of nature including man this is done by giving exact definitions of different types of order and teleological order on the one hand and of different types of chance on the other for their compatibility it is important to notice that any definition of chance presupposes some kind of order relative to that we can speak of chance thus also in evolution which is some growth of some order and for which a detailed definition is given in chpt 13 chance and degrees of freedom play an essential role a further purpose of the book is to show that both the existing order and the existing chance in nature are compatible with a global teleological plan which is god s providence however concerning the execution of god s plan not everything is done or caused by himself but god created things in such a way that they themselves can create something gödel max phil a reason for that is that god is neither all causing nor all willing although he is almighty this is connected with the result of chpts 15 and 16 that also human freedom and evil are compatible with god s providence
