a vibrant critical exchange between contemporary art and christianity is being increasingly prompted by an expanding programme of art installations and commissions for ecclesiastical spaces rather than religious art reflecting christian ideology current practices frequently initiate projects that question the values and traditions of the host space or present objects and events that challenge its visual conventions in the light of these developments this book asks what conditions are favourable to enhancing and expanding the possibilities of church based art and how can these conditions be addressed what viable language or strategies can be formulated to understand and analyse art's role within the church focusing on concepts drawn from anthropology comparative religion art theory theology and philosophy this book formulates a lexicon of terms built around the notion of encounter in order to review the effective uses and experience of contemporary art in churches the author concludes with the prognosis that art for the church has reached a critical and decisive phase in its history testing the assumption that contemporary art should be a taken for granted element of modern church life art and the church a fractious embrace uniquely combines conceptual analysis critical case studies and practical application in a rigorous and inventive manner dealing specifically with contemporary art of the past twenty five years and the most recent developments in the church's policies for the arts following on from his bestselling The Invisible Church Steve Aisthorpe finds inspiration for his new book in the ecological concept of rewilding an approach to the environment that allows nature to break free from the dulling effects of strategic control and bring wonder back into our lives applying this thinking to the church Steve Aisthorpe imagines what might happen if we put less faith in our strategies and plans which inevitably depend on our own capabilities and resources and allow the spirit to lead us beyond our capacity to imagine rewilding the church explores afresh the compelling invitation of Jesus to follow me and the call to throw off everything that hinders and entangles it poses provocative questions and issues a call to contribute to the great rewilding of the church and to be rewilded ourselves the same human instincts that have disrupted our natural environment have also constrained and domesticated the church and rewilding the church commends a rediscovery of the adventure of faith Steve Aisthorpe is one the freshest and most original voices in the church today
